HELSINKI, Jan. 22.—Twenty "dare-devil" foreign volunteer pilots were credited with staging a hour-long air raid on the Russian island naval base of Kronstadt today, causing considerable damage to the vital fortress that guards the city of Leningrad.

Reports of the attack against Kronstadt were not confirmed officially, but unofficial advice said a squadron of Finnish air force bombers eluded Soviet anti-aircraft fire and managed to score various direct hits.

New Air Base Bombed
In addition, it was reported, the new Russian air base at Balticport, Estonia, was bombed by Finnish planes and 51 Russian planes on the air field there were said to have been damaged.

(An official Soviet communique stated: "Nothing of importance occurred at the front. Patrols were active in all areas and there were artillery duels in some places. Our planes made reconnaissance and fighting flights.")

PA NEW OBSERVES

If the snowfall had been heavier during the sub-zero wave of the past few days, there would have been some badly drifted roads in this area, it is evident. Even with the light snow that occurred, there are beginnings of some large sized drifts along the highways. There was a strong wind sweeping over the countryside during most all the time that the frigid wave held forth.

Traffic was held up this morning, between 7:30 and 8 o'clock, on East Washington street, near Chestnut street. A large truck failed to climb the hill, which was somewhat slippery, and finally put chains on the wheels. Two street cars and several trailer trucks were included in the "hold up." Police were on hand to direct traffic.

Although there are more hazards to be found in the city, statistics compiled by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the state reveal that the death rate in Pennsylvania is higher in rural sections than in the cities.

Many folks who should have corrected defects in faulty chimneys last fall, when warning was issued during Fire Protection Week have found during the past few weeks, that it is one of the easiest ways to get a fire started. A majority of fires which have occurred in homes this winter have been from this cause.

For three nights a family residing on the New Wilmington road was puzzled by a mysterious "banging" noise. They finally discovered the

BUCKET BRIGADE
SAVES NEARBY HOME

Guiseppe Carinci, aged 55, of Hillsville, a track laborer employed by the P. and L. E. railroad, was burned to death Saturday night about 10:30 o'clock, when fire destroyed a six room one-story home owned and occupied by Mrs. Frank Sabatino, located near the Hillsville playgrounds. Carinci was a boarder at the Sabatino home. The house was burned to the ground with a loss of around $2,500.

The Sabatino family was away from home Saturday evening, and it was not known that Carinci had been trapped in the burning home until the embers had cooled, when his body was discovered, Sunday.

The fire is believed to have started from an explosion of the furnace which was found split open after the fire had burned itself out. The home was of a frame construction sheathed with imitation brick, which was not fireproof, and once the blaze had gotten into the tar coated material, the house became a blazing inferno.

Adjoining House Saved
The home of John Donofrio, immediately adjoining was badly scorched, but was saved from destruction through the efforts of a bucket brigade.

Carinci was born in Italy, the son of Lorenzo and Maria Carinci. He is survived by a brother, Sam Carinci, of Ellwood City, a brother Bruno of Philadelphia, and two brothers and a sister in Italy.

The body was removed to the Cunningham Funeral Home at Beesemer, where it will remain until Tuesday morning, when it will be taken to Ellwood City, where funeral services will take place from the B. V. M. church, of Ellwood City, with Father Galliano officiating. Burial will be in Locust cemetery, Wiley Hill Ellwood City.

Half Dozen Boys Implicated In Thefts Officers Report As Cases Are Solved

Chief of Detectives Willis McMullen and Detectives John Moore and John Young today reported recovery of a considerable amount of loot allegedly stolen during a period of several months from parked automobiles. More than half a dozen colored lads, minors, are accused of the thefts and according to McMullen have confessed.

The boys were apprehended Saturday. After being quizzed they were permitted to go to their homes but reported again today for additional interrogation.

It was reported at detective headquarters that the boys had confessed to stealing blankets, shoes, ice skates, cameras, bullets, flash lights, tools and other articles.

One man who reportedly had bought from one of the boys a pair of blankets was taken into custody and was being questioned by detectives today.

It is believed by Chief of Police M. J. Young that the detectives will have a complete list of the articles reportedly stolen by the gang within the next 24 hours.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—American democracy today assembled the great among its living to pay tribute at the bier of one of the great among its dead—Senator William Edgar Borah of Idaho.

The pomp of public honor and acclaim so shunned by the Leonine Borah in life came inevitably to his catafalque in death. His body rested in the well of the United States Senate attended by a military guard of honor, prior to the ceremony of a state funeral at 12:30 p. m.

President Roosevelt headed the government's notables invited by the senate to attend the services. Others invited were the supreme court justices, the cabinet, heads of the military and naval establishments, more than a hundred members of the house, and the diplomatic corps of the world stationed in Washington.

Flags at half staff on the capitol and atop federal buildings signified a government in mourning for the world famous Republican statesman and orator.

In the senate banks of flowers from senders from all over the world softened the somber austerity of the occasion. But the vacant desk and LONDON, Jan. 22.—Great Britain mourned another naval loss today—the 1,485-ton British destroyer Grenville with an indicated 81 deaths.

The Grenville, a flotilla leader, was sunk by a German mine or torpedo during a renewal of naval activity that saw destruction of six more merchant ships and the loss of at least 38 more seamen.

The destroyer was the 21st warship admitted lost by the British navy since commencement of the war.

An admiralty announcement said the Grenville sank in the North sea Saturday. One hundred and eighteen of her officers and men were rescued and brought ashore, but many were critically injured. Eight were known to have been killed and 73

The value of building construction as shown from building permits issued, is one of several indicators generally used to determine the prosperity of a city or an area, and while the reasons for occasional large variations are such that these figures cannot be accepted as all inclusive for comparisons between any two years but, if the figures are used covering a considerable number of years, the trend shown will be reasonably accurate.

In considering the totals of values covered by permits issued in New Castle from 1929 to 1939 inclusive, it will be observed that the trend closely parallels that for the United

German Seamen Taken From Jap Liner By British

(International News Service)

TOKYO, Jan. 22.—Action of a British cruiser in halting the Japanese trans-Pacific liner Asama Maru outside Nipponese territorial waters to remove 21 German seamen as war prisoners today appeared unlikely to stir up any major controversy between Tokyo and London.

Although Tokyo newspapers condemned the incident as an "act of piracy," naval authorities were reported inclined to minimize the affair.

A foreign office spokesman admitted the halting of the vessel by two warning shots across her bow took place outside Japanese territorial waters in accordance with international law.

He stated that Britain had informally notified Japan of intention to remove Germans from steamers. Japan, in reply to this notification, dissented save in the case of German service men on the active list.

ICE GORGES ON RIVERS WATCHED

(International News Service)

The icy grip of the bitter, sub-zero cold wave which swept out of the west last week and engulfed Pennsylvania as well as other eastern states, appeared to have been broken today.

Slowly rising temperatures lifted the mercury from the zero class, but brought the added problem of watchful waiting on river conditions. Virtually every major river in the state was filled with ice gorges.

In western Pennsylvania, the temperature moved up to 15 above during the night, with light snow flurries. Central Pennsylvania reported the mercury went up to 25 above yesterday, while the eastern section also was granted a respite, with the mercury in the 20s.

Two More Deaths

Two more deaths were directly attributed to the cold wave. Frank Varolio, 60, of Philadelphia, died of a heart attack due to the cold, and Andy Nagy, or Andy Kish, about 55, was found dead from exposure in a shack on the bank of the Monongahela river, in Baldwin township.

In Minersville, near Pottsville, firemen were hampered by sub-zero temperatures and frozen water-plugs as they fought a $125,000 fire. With the worst of the freezing weather over, river residents turned their eyes toward ice jams.

The Allegheny river was frozen, from nine to 13 inches thick, and both the Ohio and Monongahela rivers were covered with four inches of ice.

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
MARSEILLES, Jan. 22.—All passengers aboard the blazing Italian steamship Orazio have now been rescued, but a few members of the crew are missing, the vessel's owners announced this afternoon.

TOULON, France, Jan. 22.—Contrary to earlier reports that all passengers and crew members had been rescued, an undetermined number from the burned 11,669-ton Italian liner Orazio was reported missing today and the vessel itself was described as a total loss.

(An official announcement at Rome said 107 passengers and crew members were still missing and that 539 survivors have been accounted for so far.)

No Americans Aboard

No American or British passengers were aboard the vessel. Forty-seven survivors were landed at Marseilles during the morning.

They included 19 men, 35 women and three children, all suffering from exposure. One, identified as Lieut. Giorello, was suffering from a serious eye injury.

Many of those aboard the ship were emigrants bound for South America.

Two French destroyers, three freighters and the Italian liner Conte Biancamano rushed to the scene in reply to an S. O. S. picked up the survivors from lifeboats. The destroyers were ready to dispose of the wreck to prevent it from becoming a menace to navigation.

Captain Last To Leave

The captain of the Orazio was the last to leave the ship after seeing his passengers and crew safely off.

Hospitals in Toulon and Marseilles prepared to receive any survivors who might be suffering from burns, exposure or other injuries.

Advices from Rome said a fire was reported to have broken out aboard the Italian battleship Littorio in drydock at Genoa, but that it was believed to be minor.

Headed for South America from Genoa, the Orazio was about 75 miles off Marseilles and 60 miles

Kidnaped Woman Ends Own Life

Mary McElroy Is Found Dead

Center Of Kansas City Sensation Of 1933 Commits
Suicide At Home

LEAVES NOTE TO EXPLAIN ACTION

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 22.—A brief note referring to her kidnaping for ransom in 1933 provided the only clue today as authorities sought to learn why Miss Mary McElroy, 32, shot and killed herself.

A possible explanation for the suicide was seen by friends of the slender brunette young woman in the fact she had been despondent since her father, H. F. McElroy, resigned as Kansas City manager nine months ago and died shortly thereafter. McElroy was a member of the fallen Tom Pendergast's political machine.

Note Is Revealed

"My four kidnapers are probably the only people in the world who do not consider me an utter fool. You have your death penalty now—so please give them a chance."

Miss McElroy's kidnapers were Walter McGee, ringleader who was sentenced to hang but whose sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by his victim's plea to the governor; Walter's brother, George McGee, also serving a life term in the penitentiary; Clarence Click, who was released from prison a year ago, and Clarence Stevens, who never was apprehended.

Miss McElroy's body was found at 9:30 a. m. Sunday by her maid, Inez Strange, 30, with whom the young woman lived alone. The body was clad in a lounging robe and was lying across aavenport. Next to the body lay a .25 calibre revolver. Miss McElroy had fired one bullet through her right temple. Tests showed she had fired the gun and there was no doubt, it was a case of suicide, police said.

more were listed as missing and "must be presumed to have lost their lives," the admiralty stated.

At the same time it was announced that a British royal air force squadron attacked four German naval patrol boats off the English coast, dropping some bombs so close to the vessels that one or more were believed to have been damaged. The patrol ships were believed to have been laying mines.

Other Ships Sunk

One of the merchant victims of mines was the 9,577-ton British liner Proteus, which sank off the west coast without passengers.

Her crew of 60 men was rescued and landed safely, but 13 were injured.

Two British and three neutral freighters also were lost. One of these was the 1,179-ton Swedish ship Flancia, 17 of whose crew were drowned and four rescued when the ship was mined off Holland.

The 1,086-ton British freighter Ferry Hill struck a mine off the northeast coast of England, sinking with 12 of its 14 crew members. Two were rescued.

Nine more men were lost when the Danish 1,469-ton merchantman Tecla sank off the Scottish coast. Nine other crew members were rescued by a Norwegian vessel.

The 7,807-ton British freighter Varoni River went down off the southwest coast of England Saturday following an explosion believed caused by a mine. Several members of its crew were injured.

In addition, off the Shetland islands, the 2,050-ton Estonian steamer Nautic was sunk but her crew was rescued by an unidentified vessel.

The apparent sinking of a German submarine was reported by the crew of the Norwegian freighter Notos, which reached a Scottish port.

The crew said the U-boat attacked the 2,712-ton freighter Saturday off the island of St. Kilda. Immediately after the submarine fired a torpedo that went wide of its mark, they related, a loud explosion occurred in the U-boat, which disappeared after sending up a column of smoke.

White oak, red oak, and maple trees, have been hard hit by the frigid weather, causing a number of the tree trunks at Gaston Park, to split, according to Owen Fox, Jr., who has been noticed that a large tree in the front yard of the Almira Home, has split, and a large portion of it has fallen to the ground.

In Gaston Park, there may be seen quite a number of feeding stations for birds, and a sign on one states "For the preservation of birdlife." This is very significant at this time of the year. Owen Fox, Jr., forester, states, that during the last week of the past week, much suffering has been caused to birdlife. The heavy snows and frigid weather has wreaked havoc upon wildlife in the woods. This was demonstrated a few days ago near one of the park's feeding stations. While a number of sparrows, goldfinches, and juncos were feeding, a large goshawk swooped down upon the group, killing one of them, and carrying about their back window, where their care and attention making it easier for the "twosome." er indicator of trends in current business conditions, than the figures covering the total cost of construction and, in the case of New Castle, the trend shown by these figures again parallels very closely the national trend, as shown in the tabulation that follows.

There is another point in connection with building permit reports and particularly those covering the construction of homes, that makes this indicator unique. It not only is a record of past performances but it is also a clear demonstration of faith in the future of a community or city, on the part of those who make the record.

The true picture of business operations in any city cannot be fully told by figures that cover only the corporate limits, for it is always dependent to a substantial degree upon the population and the business and industrial activities in the territory surrounding it.

Although official recorded figures are not available, a careful survey has been made to determine the number of residential buildings erected, in the area outside of New Castle included within a distance of five miles from the city boundaries, and the total homes and other residential building and the value of the same erected during the three year period of 1937, 1938 and 1939 are as follows:

Copenhagen, Soviet premier-foreign commissar V. M. Molotov declared: "Foreign reports that we drop bombs on Helsinki are not true. We drop bombs."

Gasoline rationed
Military advisors said that captured Russian aviators have admitted that gasoline is now being rationed strictly to units of the Red air force.

In addition, latest indications are that the Russian planes are now using 500 kilogram bombs as their chief ammunition. The city of Hangzhou on the Gulf of Finland, which has been bombed incessantly since outbreak of the war, is now virtually in ruins and that not a single house has escaped severe damage.

While the bombing of Kronstadt was not mentioned in the Finnish communiqué, the war bulletin did state that "certain enemy air bases" had been attacked by Finnish planes.

These bases also were understood to include those acquired by Russia from Estonia on Dagoe and Oesel islands, from which most of the Russian air raids against Finland are said to have been launched.

I was stated officially that 11 Russian bombers were shot down on Saturday while the raiders were dropping 3,000 bombs on Finland.

Although Russian ground pressure was increasing steadily, the Karelian front and north of Lake Lajav, the Finns claimed to have repulsed all attacks and to have regained a number of strategic positions.

and I have seen his rise from the Beer Hall Putsch—I cannot honestly say that he is not prepared. In my opinion Germany was better prepared to enter this war than they were to enter the World war in 1914."

Knickerbocker was in Munich when the Beer Hall Putsch took place in 1923. He covered the brief revolution staged by the Brown Shirts, covered Hitler's trial for treason along with Ludendorff, and for nine years lived in Berlin watching at first hand the rise to power of the Austrian paper hanger. He knows Hitler and his description of him and his methods was a classic in verbal autobiography.

Other World Events
From Germany, Knickerbocker related out to the events of the world. The Ethiopian campaign saw him in Addis Ababa with the troops of Heile Selassie, the revolution in Spain saw him covering that trouble, the capture of Shanghai by the Japanese saw Knickerbocker in a front seat so to speak. In short, his lecture was a thumb nail review of 17 years of personal observation of the European merry-go-round, but in the telling he added a charm that had his crowd heedless of the time. There should be an amendment to the constitution requiring him to put down his experiences in book form for it is a long time since such an entrancing teller of tales has been in this country.

Forum Conducted
Following his lecture he conducted a forum and following that met with the class in Journalism of Westminster in the home of Prof. and Mrs. Wallace Biggs. After hearing him describe his experiences one realizes how very right the committee was in awarding him the Pulitzer prize for graphic reporting.

Knickerbocker is in the United States for a short time on a lecture tour. He returned to the States by Clipper in December, has an itinerary of 150 lectures in about 160 days and will then return to the western front.

Hearing him Saturday night was a privilege for he tells his story in an unaffected, straightforward manner. Sincerity stamps his every utterance and after hearing him one can well believe that the dispatches out of Europe signed by H. R. Knickerbocker are as genuine as it is possible for an honest man to make them.

NATION'S CAPITAL IN FINAL TRIBUTE TO SEN. BORAH

vacant chair sharply accented the passing of a senate member more potent in his influence, perhaps, than any of the rest, and dean of them all in service.

The ceremonies were as simple as the formality of a state funeral would permit, in accordance with the wishes of Senator Borah's family and the senator's own plain tastes.

The senate chaplain, the Rev. Dr. Zebarnet T. Phillips, a friend of Senator Borah for years, conducted the Episcopal funeral services. A hymn and prayer at the opening, the brief service, and another hymn and a prayer comprised the service.

Will Send Body To Idaho
Afterwards, the body of the great disenter and isolationist rested for awhile with its guard of honor in the senate chamber behind locked doors. Borah would have liked that. He spent 33 of his 74 years there, and it was very dear to him.

No funeral procession was arranged. Accompanied by his guard, the casket was to be carried to Union Station at 5 p. m. and placed aboard a train for Boise, Idaho. There, the body will lie in state early Thursday, prior to state services and burial in the late afternoon.

Ten members of the senate—five from each major party—were appointed to accompany the funeral party west, and the house was represented by a smaller delegation.

No cards were issued for the funeral. Doors of the senate galleries were opened an hour before the services, and all who could be seated were permitted to enter.

Along with the things we mentioned last week that New Castle has and which the public knows very little about, is our vault department. We spoke of caskets of so many different styles last week; now we make known the fact that there are a great many more weights and thicknesses and kinds of material put into vaults than there are into caskets.

Someone might say: "WHY BUY VAULTS?" Vaults are for protection. Why buy a beautiful casket and place it in the ground with no protection, when you can spend less money for a casket and buy protection for it? No one would think of building a house and not putting a roof on it, which would be just about the same thing.

We know of no jobber or manufacturer that carries as large a line of vaults in different weights, and made of different materials, than we do. There is no reason for any funeral director in this community to make the statement that he doesn't have or cannot get a certain kind of a vault, as we keep them at all times, ready to be delivered to any funeral director, and at the same prices he would pay at the factory.

SHULER-BENDER WEDDING SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Central Presbyterian church, Miss Olive Udell Shuler became the bride of Edward Francis Bender at a beautiful ceremony performed in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends of the couple, with Rev. Robert Meade Patterson, pastor, officiating. The single ring service was used, and the altar was nicely decorated for the event.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shuler of Ray street, chose a toe length blue satin gown, with matching accessories for her wedding, and her flowers, in shoulder bouquet, were Talisman roses, baby's breath and forget-me-nots. Her only jewelry was a gold locket, the gift of an aunt.

Miss Jean Bender, as maid of honor, was attired in a blue dress with harmonizing accessories and Mrs. Gertrude Peet, as bridesmaid, selected a beige dress with Japonica accessories. Their corsages were identical to that worn by the bride.

Carl Shuler and Dean Peet were the groom's attendants.

BORAH'S VOICE STILLED

ONE of the great voices of American politics was stilled by the death of Senator William E. Borah, who represented Idaho in the United States Senate since 1907 and had served longer in that body than any present member.

Borah's last speech to the Senate, made several days before his death, took to task Secretary of the Navy Edison for asking wartime powers for the President in peacetime. Borah spoke for about twenty minutes. Edison later explained that he didn't know what he was doing when he made the dictatorship suggestion, and there the matter rested—to be revived during the coming Presidential fray. It was the sort of issue in which Borah delighted, and the old war horse was ready for battle.

Perhaps no member ever sat in the United States Senate who was as well known to the American people as Senator Borah. His long and active service brought him frequently into the headlines, and he won the reputation of being a powerful debater. His voice was not well adapted to radio, however, and he seldom spoke over the air.

Borah led the fight in the United States Senate against the Versailles treaty and won, and again took up the battle for isolation last fall when he was leader of the opposition to lifting of the arms embargo.

In the twenties Borah battled for Federal economy and did it effectively. He fought efforts to pass a soldiers' bonus bill to the last ditch, voting against it when it was finally enacted over President Coolidge's veto. In the thirties Borah voted to pay the bonus immediately instead of in 1945. For years Borah, as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was almost alone in advocating United States recognition of the Russian Soviet.

Borah seldom had opposition in running for reelection, although he spent little time in Idaho. When he was opposed, Idaho always reelected him overwhelmingly. The Idaho Senator, who always wanted to be President and never waxed enthusiastic over the candidates for President nominated by Republican conventions except in 1928, missed his only opportunity to occupy the White House when he spurned the Vice Presidential nomination in 1920. Coolidge, who was nominated, became President when Harding died.

The death of Senator Borah is a blow to the reform bloc in the Republican party and will strengthen the hold of orthodox Republicans upon the next national convention.

IMPORTING FARM PRODUCTS

It should not be surprising if rural folk are beginning to wonder how soon the farmers may expect to get that parity to which they are entitled under the administration which is importing more and more of the staple crops grown right here at home.

It might have been supposed that when this disastrous policy was exposed last year, and it could be seen that the import of farm crops destroyed jobs for just the number of men who would have raised them, there would have been a change of policy, but the contrary is the case.

Figures compiled by the Department of Commerce have been placed in the Congressional Record which show that the imports of farm products during the first ten months of 1939 were greater than in the corresponding period of 1938. The figures are given in pounds and bushels and not in values, but the point can be illustrated by a few examples.

The first item on the list is cattle, of which more than 664,000 head were imported in the ten months of 1939; 330,000 head in the same period of 1938. Meat products generally are next listed. In the ten months of 1938 the U. S. imported 123,732,000 pounds and in the same period of 1939 the imports totaled 136,552,000 pounds.

The amount of hides imported was practically doubled. The amount of barley imported went up almost 500 per cent. The import of oats rose from 5,258 to 2,612,000 bushels. In the first ten months of 1938 the nation imported 2,433,000 bushels of wheat. In the corresponding period of 1939 the imports totaled 9,310,000 bushels.

The farmer who voted for the New Deal is entitled to wonder what he voted for.

CHALLENGE FOR CONGRESS

"This is not the time for such a program, and anyway we haven't got the money," said Chairman Woodrum of the House Appropriations Committee, in denouncing a futile attempt to write a $22,000,000 pork item into the independent offices appropriation bill.

This attitude constitutes the only proper response to the challenge faced by the national lawmaking body. President Roosevelt's recommendations in the annual budget message have been expanded into real economy by the house committee, and it is plainly up to the Representatives to maintain the policies of frugality thus brought to the fore.

Expressing its sympathy for the idea of increases in government salaries, the House Appropriations Committee stressed its "larger obligation to the nation as a whole" and announced that it will eliminate salary increases in all supply bills throughout the session.

In view of the fact that the government is still running in the red, that is the sound course to pursue. And the same policy should prevail in the states and municipalities where civic activities are being conducted with borrowed money.

The House Committee already has cut nearly $100,000,000 from the budget proposals of President Roosevelt, and taxpayers throughout the nation will hope that the slashes are sustained. The only way to reduce costs is to stop spending. Fortunately, this homely philosophy now seems to have won the needed recognition on Capitol Hill.

It may be impossible to balance the national budget within a single year. Time unquestionably will be required to adjust the governmental set-up to the exacting financial standards of the pay-as-you-go policy. Business and industry are united however, in the demand that a halt be called on the Federal system of living on borrowed money.

This country may never get back to the horse-and-buggy days, but it is certainly getting acquainted with old-fashioned winter again.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WORKING MOTHER HAS HARD TIME

A FEW MOTHERS work from choice, most from necessity. You and I agree that the young child should, until he can look after himself pretty well, have his mother home most of the time. He not only needs her physical care but her love and companionship as well.

The school child likes to meet his mother on arriving home from school; even the high school student profits from this meeting, as a rule. As one high school girl said in a youth forum I was leading, "Home is an empty and dismal place when, evening after evening, you arrive there without finding your mother to greet you." Thousands of youths in the United States could say the same. But few of them would say that if their mother were working, instead of always gadding about.

I have great sympathy for the working mother who worries about the physical and moral safety and welfare of her child while she must be away from home, especially if she is unable to have a substitute to look after him. I hear from many such mothers.

Companionship Suffers
It grieves many a mother that she cannot give her child the companionship he deserves. True, she can have her evening and week-ends home, but feeling weary after a day's work, she may not be at her best in the evening. Besides, she usually must be encumbered with the household cares on returning home. Indeed, the average working mother must do nearly as much work at home as if she were not also working away from home—cook the dinner and breakfast, tidy the house, mend, wash and iron, and care for the sick and ailing children at night. How so many of these working mothers do keep going as they do is more than I can understand.

While it often happens—and no wonder—that the working mother loses control of her children once they begin to run about, many a mother, even a widow who has had to work away from home from the time her children were babies, has brought up fine citizens.

If the working mother can have her little child well cared for in her absence; if, while she is with her child at home, she can discipline him effectively, and if she can, evenings and mornings and week-ends, help him well in the sharing of the home responsibility, she might excel as a parent. Some working mothers do. Remember also that their children usually have abundant opportunity for learning self-reliance.

When the child from six or eight upward learns to share in the home responsibilities, the working mother has more time to relax, and be more agreeable and companionable at home. And if there is a father in the home of the working mother, he can contribute his share by helping in the home duties and in the care and guidance of the children.

Three things the working mother should emphasize: (1) early, adequate restraints of the child; (2) habits of responsibility in him; (3) lots of love and companionship between him and her.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Would you pretend that your feelings are hurt and that you are crying when the child of three or four is naughty?

A. No; to do so would be childish. Besides, it would eventually wear out in its effect. What is more, the child should learn that he alone must suffer for his bad deeds.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

DID NOT SPEAK FINNISH

To be a real good work correspondent these days, or to act as censor, or to act as a national intelligence man, one must know several languages.

It has been the jest of Europe that our Ministers sent to represent this Nation in Germany or with France or with Italy or any of the other nationalities, have been unable to speak anything but English and often very poor English at that. Well, that is not to be wondered at. The appointees have distinguished themselves by some high service to this or that political party and thereby obtained the appointment. The head of a great Steel Corporation sought such an appointment, and was very much disappointed when he did not get it, for he believed he had served his Party well, but that is another story.

Just now the World's eye is turned toward Finland and its plucky fight. As a matter of fact, I would not be surprised if they did lick the Russian Army before they got through, but war counselors are necessary who can speak the Finnish language.

There was one John Davies who applied to the British War Office for a job of censorship. He could speak seventeen languages, but he was asked if he could speak Finnish. Alas! he could not.

Reader's Questions Answered
Dear Miss Markel: I am giving my first dinner party (for eight guests). Could you suggest some form of after-dinner entertainment—Helen.

Answer: Bridge is always the ideal after-dinner pastime. It is something a hostess can always rely on when the party is going flat—provided, of course, her guests enjoy the game, as almost every one does in this day and age.

The radio likewise helps in a situation of this kind, for it supplies entertainment of all kinds, and with its help your guests might find much interesting diversion, such as listening to any of the famous dance orchestras which may be found on the air at almost any time. If your dinner group is congenial they may enjoy sitting in the living room, talking and reviving old friendships or making new ones with the guests to whom they have just been introduced. There are numerous party games, displayed in novelty shops, suggested for these very "let-down" moments.

Overthrow Plot Not Held Serious
May Make Example Of Conspirators
Feel Government Was Not In Danger

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Confidentially, the Federal Bureau of Investigation doesn't take very seriously the plot, charged against 17 or 18 New Yorkers, to overthrow the United States government. That is to say, the bureau doesn't believe that the government is in any danger from a group of less than a score of alleged conspirators. Neither does it believe that this mere handful actually is representative of a larger organization which it's worth Uncle Sam's while to worry about. The fact is that the bureau's personnel, talked to individually, has too keen a sense of humor to work itself into a lather over such a threat, considered as of national proportions.

The bureau's director, J. Edgar Hoover, does indeed appear to think that he's discovered a real mare's nest. His underlings naturally don't officially disagree with him. Talked to personally, however, under pledge of secrecy, they generally concur with Manhattan Mayor La Guardia to the effect that New York City's 18,000 policemen are a great plenty to deal with the 17 or 18 marplots whom the FBI is accusing.

I have my doubts that Director Hoover himself is greatly perturbed concerning the situation, regarded as a sure-enough revolutionary peril. I suspect that he simply wants to make it look as bad as possible, by way of attracting public attention to it. Maybe this is in part due to a desire to get into the limelight as a perfectly wonderful detective. Or maybe he's trying to advertise what he views as an incipient danger.

Ill-fated Arsenal
The FBI does seem to have dug up some illicit arms and ammunition hiding places. Guns, explosives and a sword were included. The guns didn't amount to much—little 32-caliber rifles versus 45-caliber shooting irons, and some shotguns, fit to puncture ducks with. Still, the Sullivan law, in New York state, prohibits the possession of lethal weapons without proper authorization.

But the unauthorized possession of arms is a state offense. It isn't any business of the FBI. That is, it isn't any of the FBI's affair unless the federal government is being plotted against.

It must be conceded that a very tin-horn conspiracy can develop into an assassination of a president, for instance. But this alleged plot isn't so described; this is supposed to be preliminary to a revolution.

Of course, the FBI or the Secret Service or the local police or anybody is entitled to head off a plot of that kind.

But is there any prospect of it? Director Hoover of the FBI would have us think so.

$850,000 Bail
The revolt plotters' bail foots $850,000. It serves 'em right, no doubt. But isn't it ridiculous?

It's serious comic. It's disagreeable. It isn't probable, either. It's impossible. The question is: Isn't some nut liable to kill somebody? That's what frets the FBI.

Mr. Murphy Weakens

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. JUST before he took the oath that made him a member of the Supreme Court, Mr. Frank Murphy gave out a statement concerning certain unfinished investigations of the Department of Justice, at the head of which he had been, which does him no credit.

THE kindest thing that can be said about that statement is that Mr. Murphy talked about these cases privately to his friends one way and publicly in his statement in quite another way. Mr. Murphy's public protestations contrasted with his private conversation leave no decision possible save that for some reason he weakened and changed his mind.

IN the light of his valetudinary declaration it seems worth while to review the facts immediately after his appointment. Mr. Murphy spoke to his intimate friends of conditions as revealed by his investigations in Hudson county, Chicago, Miami and later, Boston—which he described as "awful." He expressed the hope that he could persuade the President to let him stay on as Attorney General for a month or six weeks. He knew these cases and would like to get them going.

THAT was the impression Mr. Murphy created upon his confidantes and it was reflected in the writings of his journalists, his friends and his intimates. Inasmuch as these cases involved several powerful Democratic politicians who recently declared for a third term, friends of the new Attorney General, Mr. Robert Jackson, one of the most ardent third-termers and with acknowledged political aspirations of his own, regarded these printed emanations as very bad indeed.

THEIR view was that if Mr. Murphy stayed on, as he intimated he desired, to work on these cases, it would acutely embarrass Mr. Jackson. It seemed to them a reflection upon him. Their resentment was deep and unceasing. However, up to a very short time before he took his oath, Mr. Murphy was still telling his friends of his hope to remain at least until the end of the month. Just when he changed or what changed him cannot be of course, be stated positively, but his decision to take his seat immediately after his confirmation came with great suddenness and his statement was a surprise, not to say shock, to those with whom he had previously talked.

BECAUSE, in that statement, he did not say that the conditions revealed by his investigation were "awful" at all. On the contrary, he talked about these cases, which so deeply concerned him a while ago, as if they didn't amount to anything much at all. About the politicians involved he declared: "There has been no criminal prosecution of these persons because there is no evidence in the department to warrant prosecution." To this he added an expression of resentment that it should be implied that either he or his successor for one moment would permit any political consideration to affect them in the performance of their duty. No one had made any such intimation.

ALL of which is in considerable contrast to previous talks of Mr. Murphy to intimate friends about pressure put upon him to drop these cases and his apprehensions lest the matter be renewed. In other words, Mr. Murphy has changed his tune. In a breast-beating statement he practically proclaims that he never had any apprehensions, that there never was any pressure and that there is no evidence justifying action in these "awful" cases. Then he leaps for his seat on the bench, where he is supposed to be immune from criticism and impervious to attack.

PUBLIC men do this sort of thing very often—and generally get away with it. It is by no means rare for a man to talk one way privately and another way publicly. Presidents do it as well as others. There is no way to check them up. Their public utterances, of course, constitute the record and they are in position to deny or denounce those who point out that these cannot be reconciled with their private views. It is a recognized custom, a part of the system, more or less necessary.

Grace Got Highest Salary In State During Year 1938

List Of Salaries Made Public By Secretary Of Treasury At Washington

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Eugene G. Grace, head of the giant Bethlehem Steel company, topped the list of Pennsylvanians earning in excess of $75,000 from corporations in 1938, according to the list made public by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today.

His income from Bethlehem totaled $78,698, and was made up of $180,000 salary and $198,698 bonus.

The late Charles M. Schwab, the steelmaster who launched the Bethlehem enterprise and presided until his death last year as its chairman, received $180,000 in salary in 1938.

Closed behind this figure was A. W. Robertson, who heads the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, with earnings from his firm of $175,008.

Pennsylvania had 34 corporation figures who were paid in excess of $75,000 that year; 14 of these men received more than $100,000.

West Virginia had three individuals earning more than $100,000. Delaware had four, all DuPont executives, and New Jersey had four.

Births Exceed Deaths In State

Rural Sections Show Highest Birth And Death Rate

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 22.—With the most recent adjusted figures showing the state's annual birth rate to be 15.7 per 1,000 population and the death rate 11.2, the number of births in Pennsylvania now exceeds the deaths by approximately 45,000 a year.

For the most part, it is in the rural sections of the state that both birth and death rates are highest. Forty-five counties, most of them definitely rural, exceed the state birth rate figure. Clarion county ranks highest, with 23.1, followed closely by Centre and Fulton, 22.7 each. Mifflin, 22.2; Forest, 21.6; Snyder, 20.6; Bedford, 20.4; Somerset, 20.2; Clinton and Clearfield, 20.1 each. Besides these "first ten," one other county, Cambria, has a birth rate of 20 per 1,000 population.

S.S.S. Tonic is the choice to increase the appetite...to boost energy

COUNTLESS thousands of men and women can testify to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought them.

The facts are simple because of all conditions affecting the human body a low blood count is most deceptive. If you feel rundown...lack a keen appetite...have lost weight...don't give up until you restore those precious red-blood-cells back to normal.

S.S.S. Tonic may be just what you need to get you on the right road to health and happiness again.

In S.S.S. Tonic you go after the trouble in two ways...first you increase the appetite and better your stomach digestion—thus making better use of the food you eat—secondly, thin, weak, watery blood is made rich and red again thus giving you a boost in energy.

Try S.S.S. which any drug store can supply and no ethical dealer will suggest a substitute. The big 20 oz. size is a two week's treatment and represents a saving in the purchase price. S.S.S. Co.

How To Relieve Misery of Your CHEST COLD

Massage throat, chest, and back with plenty of Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. Then spread a thick layer on chest and cover with a warm cloth.

VapoRub's double action brings double relief. It acts as a poultice to penetrate the surface skin; and its soothing medicinal vapors are breathed direct to the irritated air passages.

Try it, to loosen phlegm—to clear air passages—check tendency to cough—and also to relieve the tightness and soreness of chest muscles.

Plan Changes At Junior Republic Near Grove City

May Replace Superintendent Who Has Served For 27 Years, Other Changes Planned

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22—Changes primarily designed to regain the reputation and financial support it once held were underway today at the George Junior Republic, near Grove City, Attorney Leonard S. Levin, chairman of the board, admitted in Pittsburgh.

Organized 30 years ago and operated like a model town in that the "citizens" elect their own officials, pass their own laws, rule their own courts and mete out punishment to law violators, the institution seeks to rehabilitate incorrigibles and make them useful members of society.

Levin indicated that one of the first steps in the new program would be replacement of the present superintendent, Earl D. Bruner, who is in ill health. Bruner held the post for 27 years.

A number of complaints have been made against the institution recently and Levin admitted some of them "probably are justifiable." He added, however:

"But we will re-attain the excellent position the republic used to have. This is too good a corrective institution to be allowed to die. The republic has turned out 4,000 good citizens of this area—from boys and girls whose early youth possibly would have led them to prison."

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

STOMACH-ACHE

Stomach-ache is a particular ailment of childhood. Not that adults can't and don't suffer from it for, of course, they do. But generally speaking, children have it most.

Usually, a stomach-ache can be taken as a sign that a child has been eating the wrong foods, or has not been chewing properly, or hasn't been eating his food as thoroughly as he should—he has been eating too fast. Nine times out of ten stomach-aches are caused either by constipation or indigestion, and all a parent needs to do to prevent these cases of stomach-ache is to watch for and correct faulty eating and elimination habits in the child.

In the tenth case, however, the stomach-ache may be a sign of something serious, and for this reason I advise parents that the only safe thing to do when your boy or girl has it, is to call your doctor and have him examine the child. It is a symptom of a score of diseases. I know of many cases of stomach-ache that were neglected with unfortunate consequences. The parents treated Johnny's pain as a minor complaint, the result of indigestion or constipation. After home remedies had failed and Johnny's trouble had gone from bad to worse, I was called. Too often when I got there the child's condition was critical. Other doctors have told me of similar experiences.

Though, as I say, nine times out of ten a child's stomach-ache is merely a symptom of constipation and indigestion, in no case should the parent take the ailment lightly. What may seem to be a simple stomach disorder, for which it would be a "waste of money" to call the doctor, could be appendicitis or some other serious abdominal ailment.

A child often is unable to describe what he feels accurately. A doctor who is called to see a child complaining only of stomach-ache, may immediately see other symptoms of something far more serious. I recall more than one case in my 30 years of practice in this country district, of being called in to treat a child with stomach-ache and finding a condition that the parents had not suspected.

One case I particularly remember was that of a 10-year-old boy. In beginning the examination that is routine in all cases, my attention was arrested by the irregularity of the boy's pulse. I got out my stethoscope and went over his chest and back thoroughly, and it was immediately apparent that the child's heart was enlarged abnormally. I found he was suffering from a heart ailment that in all probability would have killed him suddenly and possibly without further warning one day when he happened to be engaged in a strenuous game or other activity.

His stomach-ache really saved his life. With the condition of his heart discovered in time, it was possible to give him a course of treatment that alleviated the condition and made his heart strong. Today he lives a normal life.

State Light Bills Are Below Average

Pennsylvanians Pay Less Than National Average, Survey Reveals

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—Electric light bills in Pennsylvania for most classes are well below the national average, according to a federal power commission survey.

The state's average bill for 25 kilowatt hours is $1.53, which is also the average in America for that group, the study shows. This category comprises the home owner who uses electricity only for lighting and small appliances.

Grouped in the middle Atlantic state's classification with New York and New Jersey, Pennsylvania tops the list. One instance is the K. W. H. class, covering the man with a refrigerator. The average U. S. citizen pays $4.22 the Pennsylvania $4.30, while New York and New Jersey residents are tied with $4.57.

POTATO GROWERS HAVE NEW MENACE

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 22.—Pennsylvania potato growers were warned today of a new menace to their crop by Dr. O. D. Burke, assistant professor of plant pathology extension at the Pennsylvania State college. The menace is bacterial ring rot, a disease often referred to by farmers as bacterial wilt.

According to Dr. Burke, the disease is of German origin, and in some way was carried to Canada. It was first reported in Maine in 1932 and since has spread to 19 other states. It is now found in practically every seed area in the United States except Pennsylvania.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22.—Considerable work is being done in the quiet and seclusion of legislative committee rooms while the legislature is not in session. Members of the legislature are continuing to transact official business during the interim between sessions. Most of the work is being done by the government commission, a bi-partisan committee of both houses which acts as an interim body.

The state government commission is divided into various sub-committees, the most important of them being the committees on finance, relief and departmental organization. The finance committee, headed by Sen. G. Mason Owlett, the Republican floor leader of the senate, has amassed considerable information from other states on taxation and will attempt to draw up for the next legislature's consideration a new tax system for Pennsylvania.

The relief committee is headed by Rep. John E. Van Alstburg, of Erie. The solution of problems closely tied up with the findings of the first committee. The committee on interdepartmental affairs, headed by Rep. William E. Habbysaw, Dauphin, is concerned with decentralizing the state government.

The staggering amount of money being spent for relief in Pennsylvania and throughout the nation is disclosed in a report made public by President Roosevelt. The President informed congress that from April 8, 1935 to December 31, 1939, Pennsylvania obtained $993,094,838 in federal relief funds. The money covered federal funds expended by the Works Project Administration, the National Youth Administration, the Farm Security Administration, the Public Works Administration and numerous other agencies set up to grant relief. The total for the nation was $11,776,501,570, the President reported.

The 1939 pamphlet laws, comprising the cast passed by the 1939 legislature, are now being distributed. The laws are being published in one volume this time, in place of two volumes found necessary after the 1937 session. Lawyers have been complaining over what they term the unusual delay in getting the new laws out, the 1939 legislature having adjourned May 29.

As the date near for the state-endorsing meeting on February 3 of the Democratic state committee, the Democratic party in Pennsylvania finds itself in the curious position of having many elements within the party who strongly oppose the candidacy of U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey but have no candidate around whom to rally. No one, except former mayor William McNair of Pittsburgh, appears eager to enter the arena against Guffey.

The Netherlands Protest Flights By German Planes

Claim Planes Over Holland

Assert Planes Of Reich Are Flying Over Dutch Territory Continuously

REGARD PROTEST AS IMPORTANT

(International News Service)
AMSTERDAM, Jan. 22.—A new protest by the Netherlands government to the Reich against flights over Holland by German warplanes was disclosed today.

Authorities stated that foreign planes have been flying over Dutch territory continuously and that on Saturday morning a German plane which flew over Holland in a westerly direction was pursued by Dutch military planes.

The protest to Berlin was based on this incident.

Official circles said that protest was important in view of the frequent German charges that British planes have been "violating Dutch neutrality."

The Hague, Jan. 22.—Unidentified warplanes were observed flying over Holland in an easterly direction and at a great height today.

Dutch anti-aircraft batteries opened fire on the planes and Dutch fighter planes took the air in pursuit.

Davis Rejects Delegate Offer

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22.—U. S. Sen. James J. Davis was reported today to have rejected an offer to be slated as candidate for delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention in favor of running as a delegate from his home district.

The offer, it was said, came from Republican State Chairman James P. Torrance when he was here Saturday for the Amen Corner banquet.

Also reported on Torrance's slate for the four at-large posts were to have been Gov. Arthur H. James, Mrs. Marjorie Scranton and State Senator G. Mason Owlett.

Legend says that one of the strangest baths on record was taken by some Roman gentlemen who anointed themselves with crushed strawberries in an effort to make themselves beautiful.

Don't Aggravate Gas Bloating

If your GAS BLOATING is caused by constipation, get the DOUBLE ACTION of Adierka. This secret-old remedy is BOTH carminative and cathartic. Carminative that warms and soothes the stomach, help expel GAS. Cathartic that acts quickly and gently, clearing the bowels of wastes that may have caused GAS BLOATING, headache, indigestion, sour stomach and nerve pressure. Adierka contains three laxative and five carminative to give a more BALANCED result. It does not grip—a bad habit forming. Adierka acts on the stomach and BOTH bowels. It relieves STOMACH GAS almost at once, and often removes bowels wastes in less than two hours.

Paroled Convict Shot By Police Officer In Erie

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 22.—A 34 year old paroled convict who attempted to intimidate policemen with a toy pistol after a holdup was slain Saturday night by Patrolman Frank Figaski.

District Attorney Burton R. Laub, and Chief of Police George J. Christoph identified the man as Joe Rhines of Erie, recently paroled from the Allegheny county workhouse. Both today exonerated Figaski.

Christoph and Rhines held up Miss Mary Shulemson, manager of a downtown hat shop and escaped with Miss Shulemson's purse. As Rhines fled Miss Shulemson shouted an alarm, and Patrolman Figaski cornered him in an alley.

Sonja's reported to be getting something like $500,000 for 12 weeks' skating and this is her third such tour. And that doesn't take into account her pictures, for which she is said to receive $250,000 apiece. Ruth didn't get as much for 20 years of baseball as Sonja gets in three short tours. Cobb didn't earn as much in 25 years. Tunney's and Dempsey's millions must give way to Sonja's. Earl Sande, the greatest jockey of 'em all, sometimes made as much as $100,000 a year. Tilden pounded the tennis courts for 20 years and came nowhere near making as much as Sonja does for a few whirls about the ice. Shore, top-salaried hockey star, would have to play 30 years to make as much as Sonja makes in 30 days.

I was just out side, lookin' about and it sure is cold. The main stream creek froze solid from bank to bank, at four this afternoon, and I'm hear to tell you that is the first time I ever seed that. By the looks of all the deer ahuddlin' about on the flat, looks like we're in for a cold nite. While maw an' me was milkin' at the barn this evenin' a nise lookin' doe come sniffin' at the winder, maybe she wanted in, but by the time I gets there she had started up the hill. The snow is about fore feet deep on the top of the hills, and drifted as high as some o' the kars. Pattons car is still in a drift by the log cabin, up on the hard road. The snow plows got as far as the first bridge, but looks like we're in for a spell.

Wal, I mite az well try to finish this now, I started it rite after supper. But now the ol' lajee haz gone to bed and I'm trying to keep the fire going in that ol' belly stove in the kitchen. I was just out on the back porch and the termamader is just 22 below. Still sinkin' and my pile o' hardwood in back o' the stove is going, going and almost gone. The clock in the kitchen is only 2:30 AM. I mite az well stay up as long as the wood holds out and try to keep the old homestead warm. The ol' lajee jist hollered fer the bear rug we had ahagin' in the out-kitchen over that brokin winder. She stole them drawers Rainey sent me fer Xmas haz on my old lumber-injakit that sheep skin vest that Frazier left on that tump in Gino's Gut, and then sheep skin makosins Fleming told Claude yer cook thru in that stew that one nite, he was feelin' pretti good, and now she wants that rug. I'd better check on her vittaminies, she musta not be gettin' enuff orange juice, or sumpin'. Wal excuse me fer a sec-ont, till I git it fer her, and put on some more wood.

Wal wait do you think—I went to put some more wood in that ol' belly stove and the dern stove door was almost froze shut. I hed a heckava time gittin' it opened to put more wood in. I'm tellin' you fellers yer game will sure suffer to nite. Sure do pitty 'em. Maybe I'll slip down to the barn after bit, and open the wagin house and maybe some o' them tame deer that yo frum that tarpaper camp haz been a chassin' will go in fer the nite. Yes that big buck he was tellin' Cifer about that was so wild you couldn't git within two hundred yards of it, was slurpin milk out of the milk bucket down by the barn nite fer last. Wait till I see him. Why ol' lajee Wilkersons sheep are wilder than he was.

Wal fellers don't forget to put feed out fer the birds fer it sure is the kind o' wether the game appreshates food.

The fox sure are gittin our grouse, yestiddy in that swell in back o' Cherry valley Fred found remains o' 3 grouse. Fox traks all about the place.

Hear comes Pattons brother Nee with his snowshoes on, maybe he is goin' toward town, and can mail this letter this week. Otherwise it nite have to wait till we git some home homely peegons. Sure did hate to loose those that we had, they were the best we ever hed. I even got them almost trained to go to the stoar and do little errands. Wal thoos things will happin in spite o' anything.

Best wishes to everone in deer ol' New Kastle.

As Venzke Won Boston Mile

Beating the pick of the country's milers, Gene Venzke, 31, of New York, defeats his old nemesis, Glenn Cunningham (left), by a foot in the indoor season's first mile race. Venzke's victory was a tremendous upset, coming after he was allowed to run only after staging a one-man rebellion. Officials had tried to shunt him into the half-mile run.

Sports World Ramblings

Baseball Here Dead: Several old timers were discussing the baseball problem here. They agreed that baseball was a dead sport so far as local fans are concerned. "The two or three leagues are formed and the games are played because it's baseball time," one of the gentlemen said. "One of the baseball addicts went back to the days of the Castle Cords; another to the days of the old O. and P. League team; a third discussed the days when the Lawrence County loop was considered as important as the majors here. In those days, baseball reached the dinner table, the street corner, and the billiard parlor. . . ."

They asked that we give the topic some thought and publish our comment. The biggest drawback here is lack of adequate playing fields. There isn't a diamond equipped with proper seating facilities, a place where a dyed-in-the-wool fan can sit and enjoy a game. Briefly, the ideal setting just isn't there. A person attending a local game, is forced to build his own seat, somewhere around the lot, either in an automobile, on the ground, or bring his own chair. Half the time, it is impossible to witness the game, due to all kinds of obstructions. After all, the fans make baseball. . . .

Where would the major leagues be today if Gus Phan had been ignored? Fellows like Joe DiMaggio, Hank Greenberg, Jimmy Fox, Carl Hubbell, and Bob Feller draw down a basket of cabbage. Who pays their salaries? The fans, of course. The magnates have been smart enough to lure the customers to various parks. These stadiums are equipped with everything from a restaurant to a shoe shine parlor. Gus Phan has been forgotten here. . . .

Another thing that seems to be holding back the sport is the formation of too many leagues. The Lawrence County League, the City League and Independent Leagues have been functioning here for sometime. The Lawrence County circuit has been in existence many years. Why not organize one loop? Give the players something to shoot at. Something that will revive competition and result in good baseball. Good baseball will lure the customers. Perhaps, the fans themselves might be able to alleviate the condition. The writer would gladly print some views and suggestions on the baseball situation here. . . .

Baseball jottings: Realizing that southpaw pitchers seem to puzzle the Yanks, the Red Sox will have four righties on their staff. Lefty Grove will be on hand, so will Ostermuller, Lefebvre, former Louisville caster, and Al Brazle, a newcomer purchased from Little Rock, Ark. . . . The Chicago Cubs are leading the "holdout league". Hank Leiber, Stan Hack, Augie Galan and Dizzy Dean are not ready for their ink splashing act. . . .

Sports Cocktail: Bowling continues to increase in popularity in this country. At the present, there are some 15,000,000 keglers who participate in the sport at least once every week during the season. . . .

Remember the name—Booker B. Some of the ring-wise boys see a second Joe Louis in Beck. —BUY IN NEW CASTLE—

Cunningham To Quit Racing

Glenn Cunningham Says "This Is My Last Year On Track," Ran Fastest Mile

FEELS WEIGHT OF ADVANCING YEARS

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—"I'm through after this year."

Thus in a few words passes into oblivion one of the greatest athletes of all time, the same being Glenn Cunningham the old Kansas miler, who finally concedes grudgingly that he feels the weight of years and is willing to admit when he is licked. He can't run forever and was committed today to finishing out the present campaign and retiring to the staid business of teaching.

Ran Fastest Mile
In other words, Cunningham said in a few well chosen phrases last night that he is quitting competitive running after this year. The man who ran the fastest mile ever clocked—the exact time being 4:04.4—is turning to other pursuits, and it was fitting and proper that he should make his announcement over the radio. He never cared much for newspaper men.

As a matter of fact he probably won't be sorry missed inasmuch as there won't be any Olympics.

Titans Win Close Game

Youngstown Almost Overcomes Big Lead In Closing Moments Of Game

FINAL SCORE 55-53 WITH TITANS AHEAD

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 22.—A strong Youngstown five came from behind a 15-point lead here Saturday night and almost overtook the Westminster Titans in the closing seconds of play, with Westminster winning 55-53.

During the first half, the score was tied seven times; but in the second half the Penguins never caught up with the Titan scoring. High-point scorer for the evening was Mogus, tall Youngstown guard, who registered 25 points on 10 goals and a foul. Next in scoring order came Patton, Westminster, 15; Bergman, Youngstown, 14; and Captain Mel Miller, Westminster, 13.

Rid, the Titans' best scoring bet, was lost shortly after the second half opened, on fouls.

The game was the fourth win for the Titans against two losses. Westminster has registered wins over Tech, Slippery Rock, Geneva and Youngstown, and has lost to Pitt and W. and J.

The game is the last for the Titans until the Ashland college game February 6.

Score Tied Many Times

Both teams proved stubborn at the start, knotting the score at 1-1, 3-3 and 4-4. Twelve of the first 14 points scored in the game were made from the foul line. After a 5-point rally by Vovo and Mogus for the Penguins, Westminster's Miller and Patton tied the score again at 9-9, and the procedure was repeated at 11-11, 13-13 and 15-15.

The Titan spirit that followed featured successive shots by Patton, Rid and Wask. But the visitors retaliated with Mogus registering two good buckets under the basket and a rebound by teammate Bergman to bring the score to 21-20 in favor of the Penguins.

With the half nearly over, every Titan player added to the cause to give them a half-time advantage of 30-25.

The rejuvenated Westminster quint garnered eight successive points within a minute and a half to open the second half and hold a 38-25 margin. Miller was the chief scorer to pad the lead at 47-32 midway in the final half.

Penguins Gain
The game looked safe for the home five but the stocky Penguin guard, Mogus, tipped in three successive rebounds to lead the Youngstown final-period spurt. In the last few minutes, Mogus made nine points, and it was 55-49 before the bewildered Titans had realized what had happened.

Time was the only thing that saved them from possible extra-time periods as Mogus and Bergman collected two under-basket shots within the last minute to bring the score to 55-53. Westminster did a good job of "freezing" the ball from then on.

There was some dispute after the final gun went off. The Youngstown players and coach insisted that it was fired during a time-out period, but neither referee claimed they called time, despite the fact that they possessed the ball.

Box score:

Twenty-one Night Games Carded In American League

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Release of the American league playing schedule for 1940 reveals today that 21 night games will be played in three cities; that the Yankees will open the season in Philadelphia and engage the Washington Senators in their first home series, will play at home on Decoration Day and Labor Day and are booked for only four September games with the Boston Red Sox, who are expected to seriously challenge their league supremacy.

There is a possibility that seven more night games may be added to the list as the two St. Louis clubs are trying to get together to light up Sportsman Park by midseason.

Yankee night game dates are June 24 at Cleveland, July 5 at Philadelphia and July 26 at Chicago. Instead of creating "off days" following night games, the American league will play the schedule as if all games were daytime contests. The Athletics will get the day off preceding the night game but will play the next day.

In the National league it has been the custom to wrap two off days around a night game.

The all-star game is scheduled for July 9 in St. Louis.

COOKING LESSON

Left at home to cook his supper while his wife was at the movies, a 28 year old husband in Prague, Czechoslovakia, became so alarmed when the porridge boiled over and filled the kitchen with steam that he rushed to the theater calling loudly for his mate. The attendants objected to this disturbance of the performance, but the frenzied man threatened them with violence if they interfered. Charged at the police court with disorderly conduct he was bound over for 12 months.

Paul Revere's father's name was Appollis Rivore. He changed it to Revere so Bostonians could pronounce it. He came from the Isle of Guernsey.

Miss Cora Cable Becomes Bride Of Robert Hardesty

Ceremony Performed Saturday Evening At Baptist Parsonage By Rev. Osterhouse

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 22.—One of the loveliest brides of mid-winter was Miss Cora B. Cable, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sharp Cable of First avenue, who exchanged the nuptial vows on Saturday evening with Robert Hardesty, son of Mrs. David Hardesty of New Brighton.

The ceremony was solemnized at 6:30 p. m. in the parsonage of the First Baptist church, with Rev. C. Osterhouse as officiant, using the impressive single ring ceremony.

For her wedding, the bride chose a most becoming spring trim dress in pastel shades with harmonizing accessories and she wore a corsage of yellow tea roses and lilies of the valley. They were unattended.

After the ceremony, a delightful dinner for the bride and groom and immediate families took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. F. T. Rodgers, First avenue. The table was covered with a beautiful five-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. In serving the sumptuous dinner the hostess was aided by Mrs. E. H. Mowery and Mrs. W. T. Weimer.

In the evening a group of friends held an enjoyable party for the couple at the Broadhead hotel, Beaver Falls.

The bride, one of the city's most popular young ladies, is a graduate of the local high school with the class of '34. Mr. Hardesty graduated from the New Brighton high school and is employed by the Mayers China factory at New Brighton. They are residing at Oak Hill, New Brighton.

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 22.—Steven L. McKinney, aged 46 years, died very suddenly on Saturday evening at 9:30 p. m. at his home, 1602 Davidson avenue, Aliquippa. Mr. McKinney was preparing to retire when stricken with a heart attack. He had been ailing for some time but his condition had not been considered critical.

He was born and raised in this district and had resided here until 9 years ago when he moved to Aliquippa where he was employed as a foreman by the J. and L. company. For many years, he was with his brothers an outstanding baseball player and was well-known and liked throughout the district.

He is survived by his wife, Doris; three sons, Clair, Jack and Ted; two daughters, Fern, all at home, and Mrs. Howard Hannah, Rochester; two brothers, George and Charles, of Frisco; and two sisters, Mrs. Clyde Pander and Mrs. Eva Ketter, of this city. Another brother, John, was killed recently in an accident at the National Tube company, this city.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. from the First Christian church, this city, with the pastor, Rev. Herman Patton, to officiate. Interment will be made in Locust Grove cemetery.

Cooperation In Census Taking Urged In Ellwood

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 22.—The local Chamber of Commerce is urging all business establishments of the community to cooperate with the 1940 business census which will be taken by the United States Department of Commerce sometime this week.

Manufactured goods and agricultural products are of little use until placed in the hands of consumers. The business census will show the channels through which commodities are distributed and essential services rendered.

The canvass covers retail and wholesale trade, service businesses such as barber shops, etc., construction, amusements, hotels, laundries, rug cleaning and dyeing establishments, sales finance companies, and the distribution of manufacturers' sales for the calendar year, of 1939. How many establishments are operated? What do they sell? What is the volume of sales? How many persons are employed? How much money do the employees receive for their services? The answers to these and other pertinent questions will give a clear-cut picture of the Nation's distribution system.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

Hello folks... have a nice week-end. At least it was a little warmer even if you don't think it was too warm you will admit it was warmer than Friday. Just right for skating and plenty of this good clean sport occurred yesterday.

The first thing we have on hand this week is a request for a radio from the Croton Boys Town... their claim is that with a radio their rooms will be about complete... now if anyone has a radio they would like to donate to this organization may do so by calling 5573-J... or by getting in touch with this desk. We hope you will give this request some consideration and we thank you.

Do you hold a grudge Against anyone? Do you feel resentment? At what's been done? Do you talk of injustice, And let it smart? And rankle there In your mind and heart?

We all need forgiveness, And all of us do Things better forgotten; So let us be true By forgiving, forgetting— We can if we'll try— And do unto others As we'd be done by,

Resentment and hate Are like boomerangs— They come back to you With bittered pang, For you suffer most As you tune and fret; So always remember— FORGIVE AND FORGET!

Range In Stock Market Narrow

Majority Of Leaders Ease Moderately From Saturday's Closing Levels

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The stock market continued to hold within a narrow and colorless trading range today, with the majority of leaders easing moderately from Saturday's closing levels.

Volume was extremely light. The market opened irregularly lower and held at a virtual standstill through the remainder of the forenoon. Steels were among the softest issues on the board, with motors, chemicals and aviation also under previous closing levels.

U. S. Steel dropped close to a point before meeting support while Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet & Tube each gave up fractions. Eastman Kodak among the blue-chips, dropped a point on its opening sale.

Small losses were incurred by Chrysler, General Motors, Union Carbide, Air Reduction, Douglas, United Aircraft, U. S. Rubber, American Smelting, Texas Corp. Montgomery Ward and American Can. Many representative issues held at Saturday's closings, including Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, N. Y. Central and Standard Oil of N. Y. Among the few to gain ground were Anaconda, Union Pacific and American Water Works.

east of Barcelona when she caught fire. The crew battled the flames for nearly eight hours before the passengers were removed in lifeboats.

Report From Rome

Rome, Jan. 22.—One hundred and seven passengers and crew members from the burned Italian liner Orazio are still missing but may have been picked up by ships which have not yet reported their action, Italian officials announced today.

The announcement said 539 survivors from the vessel have been accounted for so far.

Of the missing, it was stated, 64 are members of the crew.

The official announcement stated that the fire aboard the ship broke out at 5:12 a. m. yesterday and that the subsequent S. O. S. sent out by the Italian ships Conte Biancamano, Colombo, Cellina and Edera and the French naval base at Toulon.

The French dispatched a seaplane, tug and submarine chaser to aid the Orazio.

When the Italian vessel reached the scene at 4:30 p. m. they commenced salvaging operations which lasted throughout the night. The Orazio carried 412 passengers and a crew of 231.

Italian seaplanes are now scouting the zone of the disaster in an attempt to locate the missing survivors, the statement said, adding that the liner itself is still afloat and blazing.

City To Have Own 'Birthday Ball'

Dancers To Aid Nation's War On Paralysis; Huffer Chairman

New Castle, joining with the nation, will hold its President's "birthday ball" in the Cathedral Tuesday evening, January 30. John S. Huffer is chairman of arrangements.

Fifty per cent of the profits this year. As in the past, will remain in New Castle while the other 50 per cent will be turned over to the established committee directing the national fight on infantile paralysis.

Leaders today recall that a check for $253.66—proceeds of the 1939 dance—helped form the substantial fund out of which a costly "iron lung" was purchased for the city. The 1940 proceeds will be used for a cause as worthy.

Tickets—at $1 per couple—will entitle those who do not attend the dance to admission at the Penn. Regent or Victor theaters on either January 29, 30 or 31, those in charge said.

A huge birthday cake, honoring the 58th birthday of President Roosevelt is being prepared for the ball.

Will Relocate Sanitary Sewer Along Big Run

City Engineer Is Authorized To Proceed With Work Of Changing Sewer

During council meeting in the city building today council authorized City Engineer Glenn R. Thropp to proceed with the relocation of a sanitary sewer in Big Run. It will be a city-WPA project and preliminary to the improvement of the Big Run to prevent possibility of a flood.

The authorization was issued following a report by Attorney Gilbert E. Long, assistant to the city solicitor that he had secured from Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hanna, a release for damages that may be caused during the improvement of Big Run.

Long explained to council that the holder of a mortgage had not executed it but probably would. However, the holder resides in Ohio. Long suggested and received permission of council to visit Ohio and secure a release for damages from the holder of the mortgage.

In the meanwhile, relocation of the sewer will begin.

Mrs. James W. Rhodes, chairman of the production committee, assisted by groups of Polish and Finnish women will be busily engaged in making wearing apparel. The urgent call for clean used clothing is being issued again. Mrs. Rhodes feels certain that there are many families who have such clothing to give and it is now the need is so great. It is hoped every home will try to make a check. If it is impossible to deliver the clothing, a call to the Chapter House will bring a motor corps volunteer to collect it.

In nearing the million-dollar mark, the Red Cross has spent more than $600,000 for emergency purchases of medical supplies, ambulances and other articles urgently needed by Red Cross societies in the belligerent nations.

The relief operations are principally concentrated in Finland, German-occupied Poland, and in countries harboring refugees.

The "Mercy" ships have been the "Vulcania" the "U. S. S. Manhattan" and the "Exeter". Clothing for 10,000 persons is being cleared at New York along with large quantities of surgical dressings, destined for Polish and Finnish Red Cross officials.

Mrs. James W. Rhodes, chairman of production of the Lawrence County chapter is issuing a call for all women to plan on volunteering time to sewing and knitting. As only a certain number of women can work at one time, Mrs. Rhodes suggests that all women interested register at the chapter house by phone, giving the day of the week they can serve.

ARDMORE, Pa., Jan. 22—Frances Eleanor Baran, 19-year-old high school senior, was to have a hearing in Ardmore today on charges of shooting her father, Joseph, 51, an unemployed handyman, in the cellar of their Villanova home.

Lodged in a police station cell overnight, Frances insisted she fired in self defense when "he came at me with an ax because I tried to get him upstairs to breakfast." The father was taken to Bryn Mawr hospital, where physicians said he would recover from bullet wounds in the cheek and neck.

Police Captain William E. Shaffer indicated the shooting climaxed a long standing family quarrel over Baran's failure to secure a job. The family have occupied the Villanova house as caretakers since last November.

Car Breaks Pole On Liberty Street

Street Lights In Ward Are Put Out For Time After Accident Sunday

While driving along North Liberty street about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, the automobile belonging to Dr. John Allgood of Petersburg, O., in some manner got out of control and went over the curb in the 500 block, breaking off a pole.

Dr. Allgood was only slightly injured, although the car was badly damaged.

Following the accident, the street lights in the ward went out, and it was several hours before power company crews had them burning again, after replacing the pole and the fallen wires.
